

WashU Cares Annual Report

During the 2017-2018 academic year, WashU Cares received 583 reports on 527 unique individuals. 57% of reported students of concern identified as women on their admissions application (n=299), while 43% identified as men (n=228).

Of these 527 individuals, 33% were first-year students, 21% were sophomore, 16% were juniors, 17% were seniors, 12% were graduate/professional students. The remaining 1% were University College students.

Academic Class	n
Freshmen	174
Sophomores	112
Juniors	83
Seniors	89
Graduate Students	62
University College	7

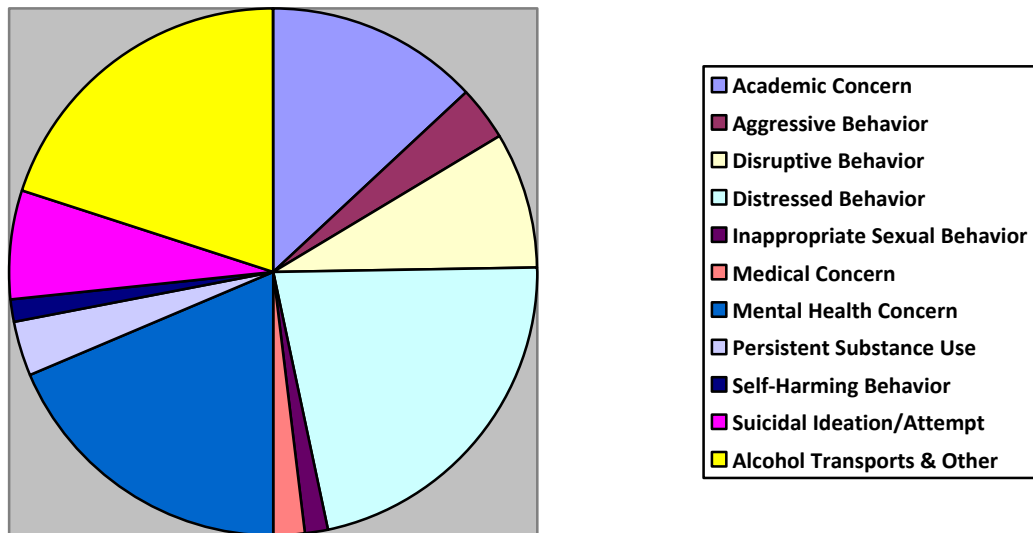

Students spanned multiple schools, with the largest population being undergraduate Arts & Sciences students (56.5%), followed by Engineering undergraduates (15%).

Division	n
Arts & Sciences-Undergraduate	298
Business-Undergraduate	43
Engineering-Undergraduate	77
Sam Fox-Undergraduate	39
Graduate Arts & Sciences	15
Graduate Business	7
Graduate Engineering	8
Graduate Sam Fox	8
Law	9
Social Work	15
University College	7
Inter-University Exchange	1

Reports can note multiple categories of concern, so the 583 reports documented 780 types of concerns.

Report Type	n
Academic Concern: Student's academic unit has expressed concern about the student's academic performance including, but not limited to, an instructor/advisor concern, unsatisfactory academic work (as judged by grades/cumulative GPA), etc.	101
Aggressive or Threatening Behavior Towards Other: Student is engaging in or threatening physical violence to another person (student or non-student).	27
Disruptive Behavior: Student is engaging in behavior that interferes with or interrupts the education process of other students or the normal business functions of the university (including, but not limited to, extreme alcohol intoxication, inappropriate outbursts, problematic interactions with the police, etc.)	65
101Distressed Behavior: Student is exhibiting concerning behavior that is causing	171

concerns (including, but not limited to, changes in emotional well-being or physical appearance, excessive absences, etc.)
Inappropriate Sexual Behavior: Student is acting in a sexually threatening or harassing way towards another person (student or non-student). This includes accusations of sexual assault and rape.	10
Medical Concern: Student has symptoms of a severe or persistent medical condition including, but not limited to, severe autoimmune disorder, acquired or inherited systemic disease, chronic physical handicaps, etc.	17
Mental Health Concern: Student, parent, friend, or other has disclosed that there is a mental health concern (including, but not limited to, mood disorders, anxiety disorders, eating disorders, psychotic disorders, personality disorders, etc.) OR student is displaying psychiatric symptoms (extreme sadness, extreme anxiety/stress, anhedonia, hallucinations/delusions, etc.)	144
Persistent Substance Use: Student has more than one documented incident of problematic substance use. Substances include, but are not limited to, alcohol, marijuana, illegal drugs, misused prescription drugs, etc.	26
Self-Harming Behavior: Student is engaging in self-harming behavior including, but not limited to: cutting, burning, scratching, dermatillomania, trichotillomania, etc. This EXCLUDES substance abuse and eating disorders.	10
Suicidal Ideation or Attempt: Student is expressing suicidal thoughts, gestures, or concerns and/or has an unusual preoccupation with suicide OR student has attempted to commit suicide.	54
Other: Other issues not covered above, including crime victim, alcohol transport, judicial matters, etc.	155

Sidebar: "Words cannot describe how thankful I am for this program. The support you provided for my friend was invaluable. I really do not know what we would have done without your hard work."